Making Connections Around The World

Hi, Everyone!

To succeed in business and in your personal life, you need to make connections. Revive old friendships, create new relationships and make time for your current friends and family.

Reunions are excellent opportunities to reconnect and network. I'm excited to attend my own upcoming reunion next year!

The Dating Diva has recently partnered with openBC and Global Business Women - A virtual gathering amongst the world's leading professional women. This is a group that is positively bursting with sheer energy, powerful inspiration and support.

I love their motto: "It's not about me, it's about we."

I have been invited to be a guest moderator at GBW, so you'll have the opportunity to participate in an open discussion with me about a range of exciting topics. I'd love to read your comments on:

- * What is the attraction principle?
- * Are you suffering from "Passion Fatigue"?
- * How is Your Life Like a Dance?

Interact with Success!

At Global Business Women you'll find:

- * Tons of positive networking opportunities with women from around the globe.
- * Approachable women who are already walking the walk and talking the talk!
- * A place where talented business minds can meet and grow!

I will be sending out a personal email/invitation in a few days to encourage you to join this wonderful community!

Otherwise, you can sign up and get started by clicking here.

You can kick off your networking by linking to me (search for Deanna Frazier)!

Don't worry guys, openBC has many groups that offer the same networking advantages!

Open yourself up to be inspired by joining this wonderful, FREE online community!

Remember, it's just a date, not the rest of your life!
